WWW.ICNIRS.ORG

The ICNIRS website (<http://www.icnirs.org>) has been developed to provide visitors with an overview of ICNIRS activities. These include the Tomas Hirschfeld award, honorary title of "Fellow of NIR Spectroscopy", ICNIRS conferences, ICNIRS publications and discussion forum. The website offers links to information and videos on NIR topics as well as links to NIR associations throughout the world. In this website, the news and events are provided regularly by web correspondents through the on-line administration tool.

In order to further promote NIR technology, the ICNIRS team suggests building an on-line database of NIR projects, including a short description and links to results, for example a poster, publication or video. The ICNIRS team is ready to collaborate with you, offering a complete platform with all the communication tools necessary for the dissemination of your activities. Your contributions to the ICNIRS website are very welcome.
